Location

Villajoyosa - A Colorful Gem on the Costa Blanca

Villajoyosa, the vibrant coastal town in Spain, is beautifully situated on the Costa Blanca in the Alicante holiday region and enchants visitors with its uniquely picturesque old town and numerous stunning beaches. The town is especially famous for its colorful houses, which give it a distinctive charm and draw the attention of visitors.

Thanks to its perfect location in the heart of the Costa Blanca, this charming coastal town is not only a popular destination for day trips but also an ideal spot for a relaxing holiday. It's especially suited for those who prefer a quieter alternative to the bustling tourist hotspots of the Costa Blanca. The beaches here are absolutely picturesque, and even during the high season, this small holiday town remains pleasantly tranquil. With around 30,000 inhabitants, Villajoyosa is a small town situated between the renowned holiday resort of Benidorm, just 14 kilometers away, and the provincial capital of Alicante, about 35 kilometers away.

According to legend, the vibrant colors of the houses once helped sailors find their way home in the evenings. Villajoyosa is also well-known for its "Moros y Cristianos" festival, which is usually held from July 24 to 31 and has been celebrated for 250 years. This festival features an impressive reenactment of the Berber pirate landing, as well as colorful parades, gastronomic competitions, spectacular fireworks, and lively concerts. A visit to Villajoyosa is therefore not only a visual delight but also a feast for the senses..
